

An exciting opportunity for an Assistant/ Trainee Quantity Surveyor to join our growing business

Lanview's reputation as a leading contractor dates back to 1990 when we started out specialising in carpentry and joinery. Today, the company is involved in new build fit-out and refurbishment projects for major clients throughout the U.K.

We have a proven track record in delivering projects of the highest quality and have a steady pipeline of work. As an assistant/ trainee quantity surveyor, you will be working alongside a team with over 200 years of combined industry experience, exposing you to on the job training, with great opportunities to progress.

The successful candidate will have either recently completed their QS studies or is looking for support whilst they undertake their studies on a day release basis. They will display an excellent approach to work and professional outlook on the construction industry

About the Candidate:

- Flexible and reliable
- Ability to use own initiative
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- Recently graduated or studying towards their QS qualification or equivalent
- Multi-tasking, self-motivated, energetic team player
- Ideally live within easy commute of Lanview's office

Benefits

Salary/package dependant on experience

Lanviews mission is to employ and retain the services of dedicated, forward-thinking staff ensuring their satisfaction, motivation and development are catered for.

We are an equal opportunities employer.